The Tin Plate Industry.

"Give this industry ample protection to cover the difference in wages," says The Wine. Now, then, if by the term "protection" here, lan't meant the power to increase the price of the article to the consumer, what if the name of common sense is meant by is," Will The Wine answer this operation without any more wriging or writching? We are the the built now this question without any more wrigging or writhing? We predict that it will not, because a square answer would be a dan-gerous admission.—Commercial We have already answered this question, but we shall be entirely willing to go on answering it as long as the Commercia ees fit to havite it because it very clearly disposes of joic free trade argument. Prior to 1873 when this country imported all of its tin plate the price per box was $12. This be it remembered was the price fixed by the British manufacturers who are credited by the free traders with a consumer. At<sup>l</sup>ibis time, however, some enterprisiog Accericans started a tin plate factory and in order to crush out this competition the British combine dropped the price to $4.50 a box. This cut had the deired effect, but the moment the British market they put the price up to $10 a box. The American mills started again when down went the price only to be restored as soon as this competition was out of the way. This stappy illustrates what the protection papers have said over and over again, namely, the moment the foreign manufacturers succeed in getting control of our market they fix prices to suit themselves. The price they put upon the plate vien they had no competition was such as to encourage our mills to engage in the industry, but by reason of their undernaid and it should be remembered that in Wales they largely employ "cheap fe-male labor," the British combine was able to drop the price temporarily to a point

Now it is proposed to give the industry protection sufficent to allow it to become cetablished on a arm basis. We have already demonstrated our ability to turn out an equal quality of the plate at the price fixed by the British manufacturers and the object of the bill is to prevent the foreign combine from orce more creating a mo-nopoly by a temporary reduction of the price. On a basis of the importation for 887 the National Association of Steel Workers made a careful estimation of the direct benefits for a single year that would follow the estab ishment of the industry in this country. They find to have produced Lithe industry in what we imported in that year would have required an adoltional cor 1,000,000 tens of hen ore, 300,000 tens of limestone, 2,000,000 tons of coal and coke, 400,000 tons of pig iron, 5,500,000 pounds of lead, 13,000,000 pounds of tailow and oil, 40,000,000 pounds of sulphuric acid and 12,000,000 feet of jumber and would have furnished employment for 35,000 persons. to whom would have been paid $23,000,000. These are simply the direct advantages.

One of the pet arguments of the free traders is that it would enhance the cost York Troune writes: The Democrate of the poor man's dinner pail. If we advoted alternately to-day for protection and mit this for the sake of the argument lat free trade; they wanted free cotton ties as see how the balance would stand, for balling the potton of the Southern cot-About one and one eighth cents would be too planter and they voted solidly for a the additional burden imposed upon the working man, assuming that he has to pay the Southern augur planter; some of them the difference, as an offset for the $23,000, voted for a bounty on all kings of sugar; 000 in wages to be, divided among $5,000 many of them voted for a bounty on mapersons, now leaf to this country because 'ple sugar, and then all of them voted We invite our free rade contemporary to orn and Western Democrats did the bidwrestle with these facts for a time.

That Decision Again.

If the decision does not conflict with the olion regulations of a State then there is nothing to prevent the seizure of liquor that is offered for sale and the Commercial must necessarily sustain the recent decision of Judge Brett in holding the respondents for violation of the law.—Weile.

THE WHIS took occasion to commend Judge Brett's decision the morning after it was rendered, but we do not now recall anything of a similar character that has having all their amendments discussed, it appeared in the columns of our contemporary. In the admission it now makes the nercial practically confesses that when it attempted to use the decision of the Court as an argument in favor of the repeal of the prohibitory law it was attributing to the decision an effect it does not really sustain. We have not attempted to define the technical effect of the deelsion, as that is a question for the lawyers, but have held from the first that to give to it the sweeping interpretation nullifying our prehibitory statutes, necessarily broke down the license system, which is simply another form of State restriction. There is, as we have said before, a great diversity of opinion as to how far the decision goes, and hence we hope to see the que tion speedily seculed by Congress. The attempt to make it appear that that body is powerless to act, which seems to be the esition of Senator Vist, is contradicted by the Court itself, which distinctly point-

Farm Lands in England. The Commercial refers to the statement of Secretary Gilbert as to the shrinkage in farm values and says it shows bow a quarter of a contary of protection has belied along the farmer. In this connection we would invite the attention of our free ed to Congress as the one power sole to apply the needed remedy.

In laddition, the farmers coldivating the soil had lost in ten years $500,000,000 in working capital. The lands of England and Wales, therefore, in area one-dith smaller only than the area of the farms in New York and Penusylvania, lost in value in ten years by this expert's estimate—an estimate made by a man handling lands all his Hr.—35,000,000,000. The vital protective sections are all there, just as reported by the committee. They have been indersed by a Republican Congress pledged to revise the tariff in the in-

As it stands to day it is not a half-way measure, but a thoroughly protective measure, a measure prepared with the principle, not the schedule, is view; a measure frame; with a knowledge of the great industrial progress in this within the last fifteen or twenty years and of the tendency of prices, and not a measare framed on the shallow assertion of heorists and the misleading information of agects of foreign producers and im-From the beginning to the end the

From a Republican House of Representatives to a Republidan Se sate; from a majority consisting of Republicans elected by the people and who touch e bows with the people every two years to a body, representing a major ty of Republicans elected but enge in six years by the State Legislatures. How wil the McK nley bill fate in the Serate? That is a question which is al-really being asked, in Washington, and asked, too, with some degree of uncertainty, tinged with anxiety. That a tariff bill representing myraki interests should have passed the House of tatives substantially as it came from the Ways and Means Con ought to be a strong argument in its favor with the Senate. Two years ago that body prepared and passed a tariff bill which did not differ materially from the McKinley bill, and with that bill for an issue the Republican party went before the country and was returned to power. The Republicans of the House believe, and have emphasized that belief by their somes, that the McKinley oill meets the wants of the people of this country more nearly than the Senate bill of two years ago. If this supposition is true, it is clearly the duty of the Senate to show that it is as true and loyal a Republican body as the House of sentatives, and to that end it should
